

HardBody CD/DVD Storage Cases & ShockShell for the iPod mini

December 2005

By Giona Matelicani

Slappa is one of the top leading manufacturers for CD and DVD cases, but also IPOD, PSP, LAPTOP cases. Slappa has recently developed a special line of products addressed to Professional DJs but, as you'll discover in our review, these products will fit very well a traditional use: at home, car, job etc..

Refinements

The first thing we immediately noticed is a precise choice of materials: quality seems to be a must in SLAPPA's cases, nonetheless for refinements.

Some Smart Solutions

Some technical choices are really smart. For example the d² POCKETS patented technology, which allows to separate discs and covers: no more hitches while inserting discs, no more rips on covers, no more imprecations. DJs will love this feature since they know very well what happens while they switch from one track to another in a small time.

Amazing Design and Variety of Colors

Design and variety of colors are amazing. We tested the new 160 Camel Collection, really stylish and elegant, but a little bit easy to dirty in a professional use and the 360 PRO which is specific for DJs. Its 360 disc capacity is enough for carrying and protecting all the necessary music from one club to another. Maybe Slappa could consider the opportunity to provide the case with a shoulder strap because DJs move with many bags but only two hands. Nonetheless Slappa should give users the opportunity to fasten one case to another (Velcro?), just to facilitate transportation. We found a little bit difficult to insert and extract first and last discs when the case is full.

ShockShell Ipod cases:

What about iPod cases? Well everyone will be able to find his favourite color and design. Whatever could be your choice you can count on a ShockShell case protecting your player under wear and tear. Our iPod was dropped several times by 1 meter (while in the ShockShell case of course!) and we can assure that no damage was detected, thanks to anodized aluminum core and rubberized PVC outer body. The player can be clamped virtually anywhere since the case has a removable belt clip.

Competitors are warned: Slappa is on the market with a complete series of quality and intriguing products.
